On The Lenten Journey

+Guilt is one of the most common of all human experiences, and often the heaviest burden to carry. Some will use it to come to terms with their life choices and bring about renewal and change. Others will deny its reality even though it may burn like a fire within them or they may project it onto others, avoiding responsibility and the need for change. Some will even use it to punish themselves and so add to their pain. The biblical perspective on guilt is evident in today's Gospel. Dragged before Jesus by the Pharisees and scribes, the woman is, by all appearances, guilty, and deserving of the punishment laid down by Moses that she be stoned. Other than the sin of which she is accused, we know nothing about her or her life's circumstances. We do not know her name, her family or the identity of her partner in the act. Alone, humiliated and at risk, she stands before Jesus awaiting her fate. Yet we know that she is a sinner not just because of the adultery, but because like all humanity, she has fallen short of the glory of God (Rom 3:23). When understood in strict legalistic terms, sin is usually seen as the breaking of rules and regulations – she was a sinner because she committed adultery. But for Jesus, sin is a bigger concept when understood in spiritual and relational terms – it is our alienation from God, from others and from ourselves. Its origin lies in our prideful and rebellious hearts, and so all humanity is sinful and in need of God's forgiveness and healing.

What makes the passage even more provocative is that the scribes come to Jesus not out of concern for the law, but in the hope that they might put Him to the test. Would He uphold the law or demonstrate compassion? Either way He would alienate someone.

To this day, we will never know what Jesus wrote in the dirt – was He playing for time or giving the scribes time to think again before He turned the tables on them? But his response to their demands has echoed through the centuries: let the one among you who is without sin be the first to throw a stone at her. Outflanked and silenced, they are without words and slowly – one by one – they slip away.

For most folks the story could have ended there, but Jesus goes one step further by offering her not just forgiveness but a new beginning. Instead of condemnation, He challenges her to turn her life around and sin no more.

What happened ultimately to this woman we will never know, and perhaps it's just as well, for the real focus here is on God's mercy and forgiveness. In this encounter,

Jesus opened the door for her to a new way of life, but the decision to walk through was hers alone. We see it over and over again – Jesus invites but does not coerce, He challenges but never infringes on our freedom. For love that is not freely given is not true love, and it is true perfect love that God wants us to experience and share.

+Progress continues on the building, and hopefully, we will be able to use the east entrance for Easter. Drying out the inside of the west gathering space addition will take a little while, but now that the roughed-in roof is on the building, we hope to get that moving quickly. We had thought we could scrape off the surface mud, but that whole process would have been over $13,000, so we decided not to go that route. Please continue to keep our project in your prayers!

+Thank you in advance (a saying/thought of Blessed Solanus Casey!) for taking the Easter requests from the church walls so quickly this past weekend. Your generosity will help many children and families enjoy Easter a little more brightly this year.

+Remember to continue to pray for those going through our RCIA and will be received into the Church this coming Easter vigil. Time is moving quickly, and they continue to grow in faith and understanding of the traditions of the Church. We look forward to welcoming you all at the Table of the Lord in the very near future!

+Fr. Gene Strain's funeral last Saturday was a wonderful celebration of the Mass of the Resurrection. I was very happy to see that our parish was well represented at the funeral. Know that we sent the large floral easel arrangement that stood close to the casket, and we also made a memorial donation to Holy Family Regional School in Fr. Strain's honor.

+Welcome back to the many who may have been away for spring break, determined by the state's guideline/directive that the first full week of April is now the "standardized" spring break. Hopefully you had safe and relaxing journeys! And for those who stayed home, may this past week have been filled with rest and fun things to do!

+One thing that a parishioner brought to my attention was the number of people who arrive late for mass, and the number who leave early. (Maybe it's just more obvious with the east entrance closed during construction.) I think it would be great for everyone to make a sincere effort to arrive on time for the start of mass, and stay till "the mass is ended." Something tells me that we really work hard to arrive at the movie or theatre or symphony on time, and stay till it's over. I think it would be a good idea to try and do the same at church!

+Not to brag, but wasn't that MSU game against Duke a thrill to watch?! I have to admit that my prayers were going strong for my alma mater, but honestly, I wasn't totally convinced till the final buzzer. Who knows what will happen next?

+May these last couple weeks of Lent be filled with many graces and blessings for you and your families. See you in church!

-Msgr. Mike (with thoughts from

on this Fifth Sunday of Lent we focus on those moms & dads who struggle to put food on their table, all refugees in search of safety and security, after fleeing hardship and violence, refugees who return home that they find better resources to rebuild their lives, and for all young people who yearn for education and respect. For Ona & his family, who are struggling to find meaningful work in the Gaza, that their God-given gifts be used for the common good, as generations of their family did before. May we welcome the homeless, the lost and the wanderer, recognizing that Jesus himself lived without a permanent home. Jesus told us not to be afraid! ... We pray to the Lord...

FAITH FORMATION

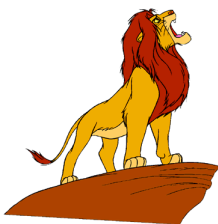

Joyful Giving

Our Faith Formation students are doing a great job of contributing to Operation Gratitude, our Lenten service, which benefits the military. (See the list elsewhere on this page of items we are collecting.) When they bring in their donations they have proud smiles on their faces. We should all approach giving as joyfully as children.

In Lent we can also focus on giving intangible things such as compassion, acceptance and forgiveness. Forgiveness isn't just for the one who wronged you, it's also for you. It frees you to move on, and allows you to be a model of mercy for others. In today's Gospel the woman who was about to be stoned experienced forgiveness and mercy.

Alice Camille gives us this prayer for Lent: "Make me the most generous forgiver, so that I may be most generously forgiven." May your plans for giving this season include generosity and joy!

SUCCESSFUL FOOD DRIVE

Thank you to everyone for the generous donations to our Gleaners Food Drive. The kindergarten classes had a friendly competition to see how many cans of food we could collect for Gleaners. The Kinder Bug class was the winner, collecting 409 cans or boxes of food. We are so excited to help our neighbors in need who are the true winners of this competition.

DISABILITY AWARENESS

Fourth-grade students spent the day learning about different forms of disabilities during Disability Awareness Day. The students rotated through a series of stations using hands-on tools to attempt to better understand how individuals with disabilities experience life. Some of the struggles were obvious but the children also discovered there are some challenges people can't always see, like learning disabilities.
